SCHDAY, April 12, 1863. The foreign imports at this port last week were ight. Those of general merchandise were $1,767,147; hose of dry goods $951,624—in all $2,718,771. against this we exported $2,474,375 of domestic all $3,000,931. The export of American stocks has stopped since the fall of gold, and we have nothing now to pay for our foreign importation but our food and specie exports. The recent fluc-tuations in gold, and the probability of still more active fluctuations, as success attends or deserts mr military enterprises, operate powerfully gainst the importing trade, and the prospect of a active fall season is slender. Within a day or ut the prices leave a heavy loss for those impor ing houses which paid duties and remitted to Europe when gold was selling at 170 a 174. There is no prospect of any decline in our exports of ecreals. Europe can take all we can spare at prices which, though considerably below the ne standard, still remunerate the grower and

Money was very easy all last week, as might be inferred from the deposit of some $3,000,000 at this point with the Sub-Treasurer at 5 per cent. On call it is worth 5 a 6 per cent. Some leading bankers, who have a good class of dealers, lend all they have over at 6, while leading com ses, with a good class of customers, bor row all they want at 5. Pirst class mercantile paper, which is very scarce indeed, sells at 5 a 6. Debt certificates, old issue, have risen to ½ per cent premium. The Secretary continues to dise of his 5-20 bonds at par, at the rate of over a million per day. We presume that during the week which ended yesterday the aggregate rescipts of the government from conversions, deposits, internal revenue and duties were not less than $15,000,000. The advantage of this method of raising money is that it cre-stee no disturbance in the money market, and enables the Treasury Department to pay its way without embarrassing mercantile operations. So vast are the expenditures of gornment for the prosecution of the war that the lisbursements are in excess of the receipts, large as they are. The entire army and navy are being paid off, and large amounts of legal tender notes are being scattered throughout the country for this purpose. Of these the bulk will find their way to this centre within sixty days. Had the Secretary followed the advice of those who, for various purposes of their own, desired to see a ng loan placed on the market in the month of farch or the beginning of April, he would not and he would infallibly have created a financial crisis which would have proved ruinous to a large section of the mercantile community, and gould have rendered the war and his adminis-tration so unpopular that future financial neeration so unpopular that future financial ne-getiations would have been very difficult, if not entirely impossible. The chief secret of a successful administration of our finances at the or with the war and enabling every man make money. So long as this is secured, people will pay taxes generously, will witness the in-erease of the debt without alarm, and will grant to the government a liberal support. But if ever the day comes when a direct issue is raised between the mercantile and financial public on the one hand and the Treasury Department on the one hand and the Treasury Department on the other, and the Secretary attempts to carry on the war by withdrawing from commerce the money which is needed for its prosecution, that instant will witness a revalsion in public feeling which will render the government, and the war unpopular, and will check simultaneously the negetiation of leans and the spontaneous payment of Gold Suctuated last week between 144 and 154 using last evening at 153. Exchange sold as low 156 and as high as 169, closing at about 165 a 166 for bankers' signatures. Gold moved last week in response to the news from the seat of war and the intelligence from Albany. If it should turn out that the demonstration of the 7th of April against Charleston was merely a reconnoise force, as seems fairly probable, and if the subse nter and the other defences of that city, it is probable that gold would fall 10 a 15 per cent in day or two. If, on the other hand, our flee chould be repulsed and finally expelled from Charleston harbor, public confidence in the cur-rency would decline and gold would advance. was adverse to the passage of the Senate Gold bill. But last evening bill. But last evening we heard that the views of the House had undergone a change, and that a bill not essentially differing from the Senate bill would pass. The bears in gold have been very active, and are fully represented in both the Assembly and the Senate, and some of the rural members have an idea that they can by statute regulate the price of gold as easily as the penalty for forgery. It is of course obvi ous to every person of experience that the passchievous to our foreign commerce and to our banking interests. But it does not follow that it will not pass. Very few of the members of the Legislature know or care anything about our trade or our banks. And, so far as we can judge at present, the prospect is that these intense patriots has been so poignant, and who are willing to see the export of American securities stopped, the price of domestic produce lowered, and our forsign trade convelsed, for the sake of reducing the premium on gold to 125 a 180, are in a fair way to

The following table shows the course of the stock

There has been very little change in prices Guring the past week. The Western shares are generally lower; Pacific, Pittsburg and the Harme are rather higher than they were a week ago. Speculation for the present is dormant; the spring rise, so confidently anticipated by the old operators, and so well-justified by the earnings the roads, the constantly increasing issues of saper and the case of money, has not yet taken operators are selling short rather than buy In several leading stocks, such as Harlem, severe lesson; but in other stocks their interest secount has covered their loss, and their disposi-ion to put out sellers' options is as marked as wer. The traffic returns for March show an in-prease fully as large as was anticipated.
